

Would you like your meat raised without antibiotics?

The following Massachusetts restaurants are among those that have taken action to transition away from serving meat raised with antibiotics. The more antibiotics are overused, such as in the production of meat, the more bacteria become resistant to the drugs. Thus, strong antibiotic-free policies from restaurants will help ensure that we preserve antibiotics for generations to come.

B.Good
Chicken, Hamburgers

Boloco
Beef, chicken (dark meat only)

BurgerFi
Hamburgers, Hot
Dogs

Chop't
Chicken, beef

Cosi
Chicken

Chick-fil-A Chicken (within five years)

Chipotle
Chicken, pork

Noodles & Co
Pork

Panera
Chicken, Roasted
Turkey Sausage, Ham (salads and sandwiches only)

Pret-a-Manger
Chicken, beef, pork

Red Robin
Hamburgers

Sweetgreen
All proteins

Tasty Burger
Beef

UBurger
Hamburgers

We are urging McDonalds USA and other restaurants to join this effort and stop the purchase of meat raised with antibiotics.