Committed to 100% Working on a statewide commitment

Map of states committed to 100% and states in which we're running 100% campaigns in 2022

Nine states have already made legislative commitments to go 100 percent clean or renewable, including Oregon and Illinois in 2021, and we should seize the opportunity to commit even more states to 100% in 2022.

If your state has already made a commitment, share this toolkit with friends in other states so we can take this movement nationwide. To learn more about state progress toward 100 percent, check out the interactive map and our Renewables on the Rise 2021 report on our 100% Renewable campaign page.
